July 29, 2020

The company is hiring more than 150 full-time Medicare sales agents in the area this summer

SANTA CLARA, Calif., July 29, 2020 /PRNewswire/ -- Today eHealth, Inc. (NASDAQ: EHTH) (eHealth.com) marked the anniversary of the opening of its Eastern Time Zone operations and technology headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, which occurred one year ago.

The company currently employs more than 190 people based in its Indianapolis office and is recruiting approximately 150 additional Medicare sales agents this summer. Like other eHealth employees, new recruits filling these roles will work from home through the coronavirus crisis and return to the Indianapolis office when it is deemed safe to do so.

"One year on, we're still excited to be in Indianapolis and we're thrilled to be hiring in the area," said eHealth CEO Scott Flanders. "Our Medicare sales agent roles are good jobs with solid compensation and benefits, plus training and support for working at home through the coronavirus pandemic. We look forward to adding more Hoosiers to the eHealth family!"

Founded in 1997, eHealth was responsible for the first online sale of a health insurance policy in the United States. In addition to its corporate headquarters in Santa Clara, California and its Eastern Time Zone headquarters in Indianapolis Indiana, eHealth has offices in Gold River, California; San Francisco, California; Salt Lake City, Utah; and Austin, Texas.
